/ WHY USE ACTIVE SUPPLY & DESIGN?

Active Supply & Design have been at the forefront of the self storage fit out industry since 1991 in providing highly efficient and cost effective self storage solutions to their many clients throughout Europe. The vastly experienced Active team offer the ultimate in design work and consistently deliver projects to programme and to budget in a highly skilled and disciplined manner.

As leading experts in the European self storage fit out industry, Active are fully committed to the total satisfaction of their clients and offer both supply and install or supply only options, whatever your preference, you will benefit from Active's vast expertise and product range.

For almost three decades Active have impressed their client base throughout Europe by providing the highest levels of service, cost effective designs and highly efficient construction packages to all levels of the self storage industry.

The "Active Experience" is unique, in that the client receives one point of contact from initial enquiry through to completion of their project; ensuring smooth and efficient progress throughout.

The team at Active possess the knowledge, experience and skill to ensure projects are always completed successfully, making Active the natural choice for those looking to either start or expand in the European self storage industry.

“

Active are by far the most experienced and professional company in the industry.

“

Fair pricing, exceptional customer service and speedy fitters. We don't use anyone else.

/ THE REMOVER

As a natural extension to a removals business; self-storage dovetails perfectly within the industry and its traditional container storage offering. Added benefits for the mover include: higher returns on investment, greater choice for the end user and an enhanced corporate image.

Active Supply & Design have a host of European removal companies amongst their impressive client base and have been instrumental in the growth and development of these companies by providing the correct advice based on their vast experience in this industry.

“

Their understanding of the removals industry and how it combines with self storage is second to none.

“

However large or small the job, Active have been willing to travel the length and breadth of Europe to help us grow.

/ THE MULTI SITE OPERATOR

Many larger operators across Europe seek the expertise of Active Supply & Design for their expansion plans. Active's enthusiasm, adaptability and vast product range are key factors in the growth of the industry across Europe.

Active understand the philosophy and importance of long term relationships and growing together; this is how they have nurtured many start up businesses into solid companies with multiple sites. This is strongly reflected in the high levels of aftersales service provided - the project being completed does not mean the job is done.

“

Active Supply & Design have consistently delivered the very best in design, pricing, service and advice.

/ THE PLC

When a company has a responsibility to its shareholders it's vital that the most efficient, cost effective and consistent fit out partner is selected. Once a new site is secured it's imperative to get the store operational as quickly as possible whilst still retaining the highest of standards. Active always deliver their cost effective self storage solutions to programme and have the resources to ensure that tight deadlines are met. UK listed self storage companies boast more than 250 of the total number of facilities across the country with Active providing their self storage solutions to many of this number.

From store refurbishment works through to the fit out of brand new stores, Active have maintained the highest levels of service in response to the stringent demands of the UK's largest operators. Innovative design, dedicated project management and constant availability have all been key factors in Active forging long term relationships with the largest UK self storage companies.

“

Active have consistently delivered value for money and have a 'can do, will do' attitude.

“

From design through to completion Active have contributed significantly to the growth of Safestore.

“

Having selected Active to supply our mezzanine, we were more than happy with their work in every respect, one of the few companies who do what they say, when they say it.

/ MEZZANINE FLOORS

In addition to being the leading supplier of mezzanine floors to the self storage industry, Active Supply & Design also have a thriving customer base in the retail and industrial sectors, many of whom have remained clients since Active was founded 1991. With CHAS, SMAS and Constructionline status, Active have the proven ability to work safely in difficult conditions and within programme constraints in the proficient supply of mezzanine floors of all sizes. Active's long term involvement in the mezzanine floor industry allows them to cater for all aspects of the build, including fire protection and electrical works in order to obtain building regulations approval on your behalf.

“

Active performed brilliantly in the installation of our mezzanine floor, from initial survey through to obtaining building regulations approval nothing was too much trouble for them.

/ THE START-UP AND DIVERSIFIER

New entrants and those looking to diversify into the self storage industry need the very best advice and guidance, from conception stage through to project completion. Active Supply & Design offer a no obligation service, including feasibility studies and even advice on the running of the facility once operational. A lot of start-ups have also benefitted from Active's turn-key package which includes all aspects of the installation, including building works, mezzanine floors, partitioning, electrics and security.

“

Was completely lost and didn't know which direction to turn with fitting out an industrial unit for self storage until I found Active.
